

It's time to take control of our future

In all my days in the studio and on tour, I don't think the subject of cancer ever crossed my mind. 'Cancer's for old people. I'm going to live for years and never get ill'.

I was wrong. Today, I feel so totally stupid. All the 'little indiscretions' over the years have caught up with me - and my friends. I never thought that I would ever go to funerals.

These days, I'm going to one or two a month. I spend more time in the hospital visiting friends than I do in the studio.

Each day, there's a story of someone else having chemo or radiotherapy. And others are having the most mutilating surgery. Cancer is destroying their lives. Well, actually it's the treatment that seems to be doing that more than the cancer.

A year ago I came across Photodynamic Therapy (PDT). It's a new way of killing cancer.

I was amazed. The whole concept is so simple, and is already helping many cancer patients to avoid the suffering, the mental and physical scars.

If you have a look at the KILLING Cancer website, you'll see some crazy video clips - stories from patients who've been treated with PDT. People with lung cancer, prostate cancer, mouth cancer, bile duct and pancreatic cancer. Why are the video clips 'crazy'? Because they feature people who are alive and well and had been told they would be dead. Or would only be alive if they'd gone along with the surgeons and had major, disfiguring surgery.

The incredible thing about PDT is that it can kill cancer with a single treatment, without the side effects patients get with chemo and radiotherapy. And without the need for surgery.

I hope you'll go out and buy my Photodynamic Therapy recording. It's a download in Cherry Red Records. I'm giving the royalties to the charity. I hope you'll also donate to KILLING Cancer that wants to fund new cancer treatments using PDT.

Their top priorities are PDT for pancreatic cancer, lung cancer, breast cancer, vulval and penile cancer, and brain tumours.

Just click on the KILLING Cancer logo to visit the website to find out more about what PDT can treat now.

And please can you do one more thing? And please send this PDF to all your friends around the world. We need to do this for all of us, and our kids.
